

Alison (Ali) Collis has dabbled in art several times over the years, but in 2010 joined her sister, Di Morgan, in Pam's Thursday afternoon classes in Alvechurch.

Change in work circumstances meant that she had to give up the afternoon classes but as soon as Pam announced the Wednesday evening classes in Droitwich, Ali was first to sign up! However, a second change has allowed her to re-join the Thursday afternoon group although she has continued to attend the Wednesday group as well whenever possible.

With no formal art training, Ali has a natural style and like her sister likes to paint as close to reality as possible but has also tried her hand at abstract and mixed media.
